AgReliant Genetics-AgriGold-LG Seeds
Washington Township, IN

An industry-leading agricultural bioscience company directly tied to the research, production, and sale of corn, soybean, and other seeds across North America. AgReliant Genetics was founded in 2000 by parent companies KWS, of Germany, and Limagrain Groupe, of France. During the last two generations of operation, AgReliant Genetics has enjoyed continuous expansion - now the largest independent seed company in North America. Our global corn germplasm research program, responsive support team, state-of-the-art production division, and three great brands provide our farmers, dealers, and grower partners with unique, trusted seed solutions. At the center of all operations is our collective passion to Help Farmers Grow.
