Important Procedures For Opening A New Account: To help the government fight the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, federal law requires all financial institutions to obtain, verify and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. What this means for you: When you open an account, we will ask for your name, address, date of birth, and other information that will allow us to identify you. We may also ask to see your driver's license or other identifying documents.

Applicant(s) Statement: By submitting this application, I understand and agree that you may obtain additional credit information about me, including requesting information from a credit reporting agency and verifying my employment history.

Certification (not applicable to international students completing Form W-8BEN): Under penalties of perjury, I certify that: 1) the number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and 2) I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person, and 3) I am not subject to backup withholding because: I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and 4) I am exempt from FATCA reporting.

Certification instructions: You must cross out item 3 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 3 does not apply.

The Internal Revenue Service does not require your consent to any provision of this document other than the certifications required to avoid backup withholding.
